NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dean Roberts

\(president@modelafordclub.com.au\)

Well, I guess I can't make the excuse this month that "I didn't have time to get something to Ian".

By the time you read this, hopefully we are out of our 3 day lock-down and things are back to normal. That is, a WA normal.

If so, the southwest run has started and on Monday 3rd, Jenni and I will be catching up with the group in Busselton. I must say, we are looking forward to the break and enjoying everyone's company.

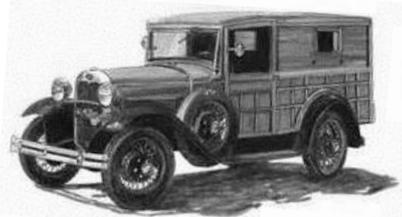

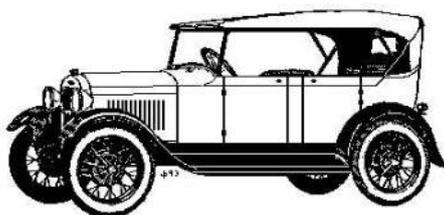

Last weekend, I attended the "Shannon's Classic Car Show" as part of the organising group. I must say that it has given me a greater appreciation of the work that goes into running an event like that. Although it is put on by the CMC, a big thanks must go to Paul Markham who basically put the whole thing together. On behalf of the club, I have passed on our thanks for the effort he has put in over the last 5 years. This was his last year, and the CMC is looking for a volunteer to put next year's event together. If you think you would like the job, or know someone who would, please let me know and I will pass on your details.

We did have a CMC meeting last Monday, and I got the chance to chair that as Geoff (the president) was unable to attend. Toni will bring you up-to-date with any relevant details in her delegate's report.

I hope the lock-down did not cause too many problems for you and all stayed safe

Warm Regards

Dean

SECRETARY COMMENTS

Kathleen Kuenzel (secretary@modelafordclub.com.au)

As I write this note we are once again in lock-down but fortunately only for 3 days. Hopefully the duration will stay at that short period and will not have an impact on the Winter Getaway which is due to start on 30 April. I'm sure that, with me, you wish the folk taking part in that venture a safe and enjoyable journey.

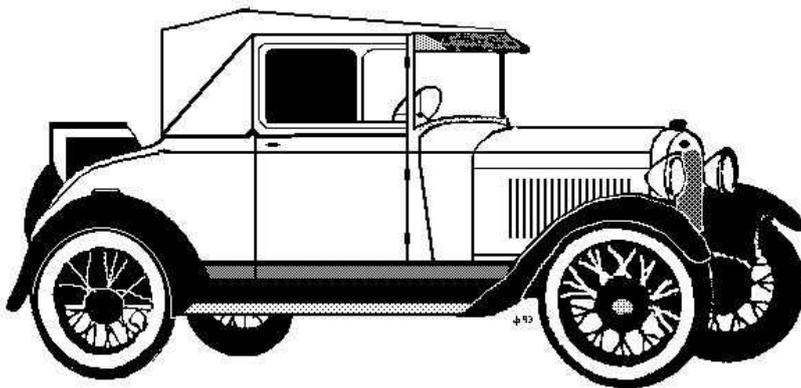

Another upcoming club event is the proposed North West run. I have heard from Wayne Millman that he has had to make a couple of changes to the timetable, one of which is due to the Kalbarri cyclone. All who have nominated for the run have been advised but he has requested that the information be more widely distributed in case there are others who wish to take part. I have asked our editor to add the details to this newsletter.

Please note: Edith Jeffree has shortened her email address to eijeffree@bigpond.com The "au" has been dropped from the end.

The club spare parts list is now on the website. I have renamed the menu that used to be “Market” to “Parts”, and the spare parts list can be found under there.

There was a very interesting article in the March / April Restorer. I don't know about the rest of you, but when using a feeler gauge, I've never been certain exactly how much drag I should be feeling at the correct gap. The article describes the construction of a jig to hold the distributor, and then using a dial gauge to measure the point opening as the distributor is rotated. The article author found that he consistently got a gap 3 thou smaller than he wanted.

My original thought was that building the distributor stand (by someone with better fabrication skills than me) would be a good educational project for the club - we could all have a go and test our gap measuring ability and set up our distributors. However, I then thought of the practicalities of removing my distributor with its armoured cable. So I'm now turning my attention to buying myself a new “toy” (dial gauge with mag base) and doing this test with the distributor in-situ and using the crank handle.

CLASSIC CAR SHOW

Ray Mahony

Who could have wanted a more pleasant day for such an event, with the sun shining and a gentle breeze to keep us from over-heating. Our location was slightly different than last time; instead of being in the open we were nestled around large shady trees.

The club had 17 cars on display including John and Kay Cook's US-style Police car (complete with blue light and siren) which they brought down from Kukerin. Daniel Pinnington had his first official drive in a Model A when bringing Horace's Tudor to the park. There was plenty of room between each so the spectators could get a good look at each car. Horace's old "UTE" attracted much attention again, as usual. Hans had the tow truck advertised for sale, but apparently only attracted "tyre kickers" and wishful thinkers.

At the club gazebo, Dean had the new "Model A" block and crankshaft on display for members to see and discuss. Glenda had a large selection of handiwork on display and for sale, and did very well by all accounts.

Reportedly, there were some 1000 cars on display throughout the Ascot grounds - slightly more than last time. The theme for the day was "Australian Made" with a special area designated for this. Alan Jeffree had his Phaeton in this area. Many others displayed the "Australian Made" card within their club display area.

I would say this year's display was the most pleasant we have had; being able to sit under the shade of trees, on a not too warm day and with good company, made the day pass very nicely.

CMC DELEGATE'S REPORT

Toni Mahony

A general meeting of the CMC was held on the 19th April at Eden Hill, with about 45 delegates in attendance. Our own Dean Roberts was chairing the meeting in the absence of Geoff Moor – and a darn good job he did, under trying circumstances. A few people reckoned it was the best meeting they'd ever been to!! (Trying to get his swollen head back to normal size!!).

The usual Council housekeeping business was attended to, with an inconclusive update of the Classic Car Show - due to it only being held the day before. Crowd and car numbers, takings and all of that will be forthcoming. However, it was felt that there were more cars than last year and the programs ran out at 1.00pm, so that must mean that maybe more people also came through the gate – why wouldn't you, it was a glorious day! However, they are still looking for someone to run this major show next year, with assistance forthcoming from the CMC.

As has been the case over the past year or so, the main topic of conversation was the Concessions, both 404 and C4C.

Now that C4C has been rolled out, we are waiting to see what ramifications or anomalies it throws up. The C4C information is on the Dept of Transport website, along with FAQs and all the appropriate forms – look under "Concessions". There are already one or two areas of concern, of which the DoT will be advised.

The negotiating group from CMC gave us a report on where they see problems occurring for 404 Concession holders. There will be another meeting with the DoT before the June CMC meeting – and some interesting points were raised which will be taken to that meeting. These include where our responsibilities as a Club are concerned.

The CMC Secretary's role is still officially vacant – any takers?? They are also looking for an IT person to help out with the roll-out of the Wild Apricot computer system.

On the federal scene, negotiations have recommenced with the federal government, (after stalling a bit during the pandemic), regarding the luxury tax on imported vehicles over 70 years old – we await what might come of this.

Next CMC General meeting will be held on 21st June.

Despite cyclone Seroja doing her best to disrupt the day, it went ahead as planned. A fun time was had by those Model A members that were able to attend and display their vehicles.

The judges for the day were from the Motor Museum and a Model A, "Rustored" was selected as Best Car at Show!

The Best Club Display was awarded to the Military section of the VCC, for their comprehensive display.

GREAT SOUTHERN CAR SHOW TOUR

Tania Piercy

Tis the season...

for car shows. The weather is supposed to be cooling off and a bit more comfortable for old cars and drivers alike. This hasn't really happened yet this year, but we've been busy touring just the same. Darryl has (mostly) finished building and fitting the truck with camper/cabin and workshop as well as custom trailer for Bert. We are set to travel!

We first went to Collie for VCCWA Collie branch's 'Sparkplugs on the Hill', held as part of the Collie Festival over the Labour Day long weekend.

Collie branch were kind enough to allow us to park up at the clubrooms in the heart of town where we were in walking distance to the events. Collie clubrooms are wonderful and make a great place for dinners and entertaining or simply sitting on the veranda having a sundowner. The Collians/Collie-ites/Collies are a friendly and active group, as travellers on Wayne's Jurien Bay to Koorda run will agree.

VCCWA Collie Clubrooms

Sparkplugs On The Hill, Collie

On a shake-down tour of Collie our career was nearly over before it even started! After passing through a set of lights (I should say, the only set of lights) a car came from a drive-way through a gap in the cars waiting for the lights and pulled straight in front of us! I didn't think Bert's brakes were all that good, but they did the trick (although Daz has been complaining of a sore foot since). Bert veered and skidded sideways, brakes squealed and there was such a universal gasp from onlookers that I felt momentarily lightheaded from lack of oxygen. There we stopped door-handle to door-handle, close enough to reach over and tap politely on the window of the errant driver's passenger window. But, before Darryl could respond with the universal hand gesture for such situations, the silver-sedan-Collie-plates was off and everyone could breath again. Who knew a 45km/hr near-miss could be so dramatic, but it was, trust me.

The Collie club invited car groups from around the South-west to display their cars and there was a fantastic turnout with lots of interest in the vehicles. We spent a very enjoyable few days in Collie before heading off on the Monday as the rain set in. Big mistake.

We tell ourselves this every trip - DO NOT DRIVE

AROUND WA TOWNS ON A SUNDAY OR PUBLIC HOLIDAY. But we forget and soon find ourselves in a succession of closed-up towns without a single sign of life or service on offer. I wouldn't have been surprised to see tumbleweeds blowing down main streets, but it was too wet. We headed east where we sat for 10 minutes before a break in the traffic allowed us to turn right onto Albany Highway (Public Holiday Monday – remember). With thoughts of staying in Kojonup we headed south. Kojonup was jumping in comparison to other towns. Well, at least the bakery and public toilet was jumping; not much else was open.

Wellington Dam

After peering through closed doors in and around town we parked up in a nice spot by the old railway siding and planned how we would get dinner. Always a primary concern. Apparently the only 'dining' experience in Kojonup is the roadhouse on the outskirts of town or a take-away curry from the bakery. One pub has shut and the other "can't be bothered cooking any more". They stopped meals during COVID and decided they did very well with the bar and drive-through without the hassle of food, thank you very much. Disappointing for the town folks (who complained bitterly) and visitors. We took a soggy walk along the heritage trail, cooked at 'home' and went to bed.

Wellington Dam

We thought Mt Barker might be nice and it was. We intended to stay in the 24 hour RV parking across from the pub, but it was closed to travellers due to 'Risk of COVID'. This seemed an odd decision by council and when we asked locals they said that the caravan park out of town set up a petition and brow-beat local businesses into signing to have it closed. So, we went to the caravan park instead, from where we could unload Bert and then drive into town for a pub dinner. Nope. Couldn't fit, mostly booked out, low hanging trees everywhere, unhelpful battle-axe behind the counter (source of the petition for sure) and we drove back north to Cranbrook. Brilliant! Lovely little town with 3 cafes and a pub all doing dinners (Hello Kojonup. Anyone listening?) Caravan Park extremely helpful and friendly. All things you hope to find in a (very) small country town.

Next day was Dumbleyung where we spent some happy hours snooping around town and brushing up on the history of Donald Campbell and Bluebird. Great little museum where you ring a phone number for the secret code to let yourself in and browse to your heart's content. I think that's called "work smarter, not harder". Stayed in another RV park in town. Let me tell you, Dumbleyung know what they are about. The RV park is on the oval just beside town. The council has put in a gravel path with solar night lighting all the way to the pub door! Now that's thinking. We didn't fall in a ditch, river or turn an ankle on a dark roadside once! Still raining.

Thursday and we drove on to Kukerin to shamelessly bludge off Johnno and Kaye Cook with whom we had arranged to drive to the Wagin Woolorama on Friday. The last 5km to their farm is gravel and you should have seen the state of Bert on the trailer when we arrived. Red mud from end to end! Washed Bert, washed ourselves, reacquainted ourselves with cars (hmmmmm seems to be a few more than last time....and does this shed seem bigger than before?) and collections, spent 45 minutes looking for Kaye's phone and then it was time to put our feet under the table, from where we didn't move much at all.

Friday, and we drove both Tudors across to Wagin where the VCC Central & Upper Great Southern branch had a display in the Historical Village adjacent to the showgrounds and Woolorama. Much like every agricultural show, we soon found ourselves sampling a vast array of wine and gin before 11am and eating stuffed spuds for lunch before killing time until it's reasonable to drive home again. Thankfully, the local constabulary are either short sighted or inattentive. They did not book either of the speeding Tudors going 80+ through a road-work zone on the way home. Phew! Oldest cars ever to be crushed for hooning??? Another great night with our feet under the table at Dingo Dell before heading home.

I had intended to write about our trips to Esperance's 'Outta the Shed' and Northam's 'Motorsport Festival', but I've run out of steam and will leave that pleasure to another time.

TECHNICAL TIP

John Moorehead (re-print from Western Model A News, Feb 2002)

Keeping Lubricant in a Model A Steering Box

Like many Model A's, our phaeton suffered from lubricant leaking from the steering box even though the bushes are in good condition. Whilst the amount of lubricant over a period of weeks only amounted to a few drops - it was annoying.

A fellow club member, (John Forbes) advised that he had solved the problem with new bushes and a spring loaded felt washer positioned adjacent to the frame. I tried the felt washer with limited success.

Whilst lying on my back studying this problem, it was noted that approx. 1/8" of round shaft protruded from the steering box through the frame before the square section. I removed the two securing bolts holding the steering box to the frame and applied gasket sealant between the steering box and frame. A standard two lip oil seal was placed over the shaft and against the outer side of the frame. Again, some gasket cement was placed between the outer part of the seal and frame. A spring and thrust washer was positioned between the seal and pitman arm (see sketch).

After some months and several hours the steering box remains free of leaks!! Whilst this technique is not as sound as removing the steering box and machining the box to take a special seal, for just a few dollars my problem was solved!!
